Most of the farmers are working day and night to get their tobacco sold while it's selling so good.

Rev. F. J. Wingfield preached at Bethel Church on Sunday morning. He and Mrs. Wingfield were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Moore.

We are so sorry to hear that Mrs. Sallie Carson is sick at this writing. Hope she is soon better and out again.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Wheeler and daughter, Bertha, spent Sunday in Roanoke with their aunt, Mrs. Rosa Carson, and to help celebrate her birthday. Hope she will see many more happy days to come.

We want to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Chick on next Tuesday. Jan. 22, on their 50th wedding date. We hope for them many more happy days together. His brother, Elwin is the only one living that attended the marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Chick and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beard and son, Lawrence, visited Mrs. Chick's mother, Mrs. W. H. Drinkard, in Lynchburg on last Sunday. She is in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Tof Ray Burnette spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Burnette.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks Jennings visited her brother, Dr. David Christian, who is ill in Virginia Baptist Hospital. We hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Turnes were dinner guests of their daughter, Mrs. Hugh Brown and her family on last Sunday. They also attended preaching services there to hear Rev. W. A. Irving preach.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Johnson and son of Evergreen spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. J. H. Beard.

Oakville

Pfc. Dan Lewis of Ft. Jackson, S. C., who spent 10 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lewis, has returned to his station, and is on maneuvers in Georgia for three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Lewis visited Mrs. Bettie L. Megginson in Lynchburg Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilkerson have been visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilkerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Martin, Mrs. John C. Moore, Mrs. J. G. Martin and "Butch" motored to Martinsville Sunday to see Mr. Warren Martin who has been sick.

The Oakville PTA met on Tuesday night, Jan. 8 with a small attendance. Mrs. Gordon's room had the most parents present so they will enjoy some extra play-time. The PTA voted to buy a microscope for the science classes in school and I've heard they have gotten it and are really enjoying using it. "Seeing is believing," and I feel sure that it will be money well spent.

Mrs. Tom Gilbert is sick at this writing. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Saturday will mark the close of hunting season. The war on birds will be over. We wish it would mark the close of all wars. We must be patient and pray harder as well as work to that end. You know "more things are wrought by prayer than this world e'er dreamed of."

FATHER DARKLEAF

By The Editor

A COUNTRY EDITOR ON TOUR

I have learned what many, especially the ladies, knew all along: there is no indispensable man. And so, first of all I wish to thank those who did what I consider an excellent job of getting out our paper during our greatly needed vacation. We could not have left the shop without knowing that everything would run on schedule, and so our thanks to: "Billy" Evans, Mrs. G. L. Doss, Percy Staton, Mrs. J. L. Hudson, and all others who helped.... including the advertisers and correspondents.

We visited nine states and drove 3,000 miles during our trip, and without car trouble or accident. In fact we did not even see any sign of an accident or wreck, save a big truck on fire near Salem, Va. Mother Brightleaf deserves credit for a demonstration of careful driving, and Dr. Chas. F. James for having furnished us perfect route maps. Top features of our trip were visits to Chattonooga, Birgingham, Vicksburg, Natchez, Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Biloxi, Mobile, Pensacola, Panama City, Ocala, Warm Springs and Atlanta. If you will bear with us, we will be writing of our trip for several weeks.... bearing in mind that we still think that Appomattox is tops as a growing town.

I had a speaking engagement in Lynchburg Wednesday, Jan. 2, and from there we drove on to Roanoke and put in at the delightful Hotel Roanoke. A good start is important, so after breakfast in the beautiful Hotel Roanoke dining room, we hit Route 11 at Salem and headed into Southwest Virginia. The Christmas lights were still on in Christiansburg. The Hotel Governor Tyler in Radford looked attractive. Cattle grazing on Draper Mountain. Lots of sheep in Wythe County: a coming thing in Virginia. The Virginia House at Marion .. and The Cedars. Always think of the late Sherwood Anderson and his son, Robert Lane, when pass through Marion. And then near Emory and Henry College where the late Pedie Jackson coached great football teams. We will have to pay another visit to famous Abington. The Martha Washington Inn, mountain laurel wrappings for holiday decorations .. burley tobacco warehouses, the New Dixie, Victory and Vann's. And then by Intermont College at Bristol, and thence, after lunch, into Tennessee. Not far along is Kingsport, a booming town. The big Eastman Kodak plant has a fabulous pay roll, and with its wide streets and many new homes it stands as evidence of what we were to see all along in Tennessee: unparalled prosperity. Rogersville with its great high school and another tobacco warehouse.

The tourist business was worth 450,000,000 last year in Tennessee. And one of the greatest projects of all times, the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) is really paying off. You are at Oak Ridge, and you realize this is modern America, producing and on the boom. Farm lands are being reclaimed and you see how man is controlling disantrous flood waters.

And thus on into Knoxville, home of the Tennessee Volunteers and the capital. It was somewhat sad there, for Tennessee had lost to Maryland in the Sugar Bowl football game. We met Tennessee cars all the way into New Orleans, rolling back from the big New Year's day game. A Junior Chamber of Commerce sign: This is Knoxville's most dangerous intersection....1951 record 2 dead and 22 injured." You see few billboards along the highway. Dairy cattle. And all over housing construction is of the new ranch type. Lenoir: a nice town with wide streets but they are narrowed by angle parking. And stopping just short of Chattanooga, we stayed overnight at the very modern Cherokee Hotel in Cleveland, Tenn. This is a booming town of over 25,000 population, with excellent pay rolls and every evi-

BACK ON RADIO

Calvin Robinson will resume his two radio programs this Friday, on radio station WWOD, Lynchburg. He will be heard at 12:30 with an Appomattox newscast, and again at 7:15 P. M. as "The Country Editor."

Draft Board Calls Attention To Provisions

Mr. H. A. Gurney of Selective Service Local Board 8, Appomattox County, pointed out this week that the Universal Military Training Act as amended June 19, 1951, provides that a registrant who was on June 19, 1951, in a deferred classification, or who thereafter is placed in a deferred classification, under the provisions of the act will remain liable for training and service in the armed forces until the thirty-fifth anniversary of the date of their birth.

Mr. Gurney went on to say that prior to June 19, 1951, the law required the deferment of conscientious objectors who were opposed to both combat and non-combat service, and authorized the deferment of registrants who had wives only. To such registrants extension of liability does not apply since those deferments are not authorized by law.

Under the provisions of the Universal Military Training and Service Act as amended, if a registrant was in a deferred classification on the 19 of June 1951, or at any time thereafter, his liability for service is extended until the thirty-fifth anniversary of his date of birth. Registrants who were exempt under the provisions of the law are not subject to this extension of liability for service.

Deferred classifications which extend liability for service until thirty-five include certain I-D classifications, all I-S high school and college deferments, all II-A industrial deferments, all II-C agricultural deferments, all II-S (and the former II-A-S) college student deferments, class III-A deferments with the exception of those deferred by reason of having a wife only, and classification IV-F deferments which include those registrants not acceptable at the time of physical examination because of physical, mental, or moral reasons.

Mr. Gurney stated that those registrants who had not reached the twenty-sixth anniversary of the date of their birth, and who were in a deferred classification on or after June 19, 1951, and have since been classified in class V-A (over age) will be reclassified at the earliest date possible. Therefore, registrants having information which should be considered by the local board and is not now recorded in writing with the local board should report such information in writing as soon as possible to the local board office.

February Call

The Local Selective Service Board today announced the following draft call for induction into the armed services on February 7:

AHS Team To Play Tonight

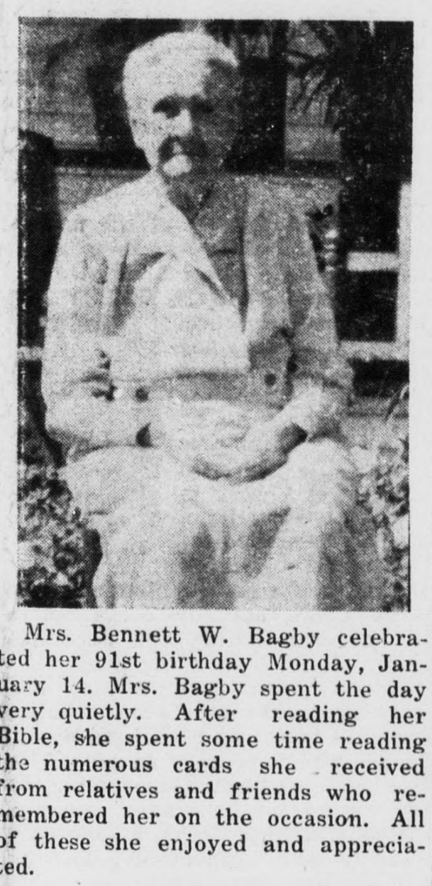
The Appomattox boys and girls will play Naruna in a league basketball game at 7:30 tonight.

The local girls lost for the first time this season when Bedford defeated them 45 to 40 in a league game last week. That leaves the girls with a record of six victories and one defeat, and a three won and one lost record in the league. Bea Totty scored 23 points to be the high scorer for the night. She was followed by Virginia Chandler with 15 points.

The boys lost a close and very interesting game to a more experienced team by a score of 48 to 39. Appomattox was leading in the third quarter until Leon Paulette fouled out. The scoring was evenly divided between Bill Jamerson, with 8; Earl Agee with 7; J. T. Guill with 8; Ray Wingfield with 7.

The boys have now won four and lost three for a season record, and won one and lost three in league play. They hope to better the record tonight with Naruna, at Concord.

91 years old



Mrs. Bennett W. Bagby celebrated her 91st birthday Monday, January 14. Mrs. Bagby spent the day very quietly. After reading her Bible, she spent some time reading the numerous cards she received from relatives and friends who remembered her on the occasion. All of these she enjoyed and appreciated.

"Little White House" Is March of Dimes Booster

"I will build a cottage here and begin a new life."

These were the words of Franklin D. Roosevelt when his friend, Mr. Fred Betts, took him on horseback to Warm Springs, Georgia., and the remote and rugged spot which was destined to play such a role in the rehabilitation of Mr. Roosevelt's health and in the general fight against dread polio.

Mr. Roosevelt was stricken with infantile paralysis in 1921. It seemed to mark his career for an untimely end. He had served as Assistant Secretary of the Navy under Woodrow Wilson, and was nominated for Vice-President in 1920. But he heard of Warm Springs and the warm waters which seemed to help some children afflicted with polio.

His cottage was started in 1931 and completed in 1932. It became known as "The Little White House." He died there April 12, 1945.

Last week I visited Warm Springs, Georgia. You have to drive some 20 miles off your route, over 2000 foot Pine Mountain to reach it. But in the past four years over 300,000 visitors have come to this shrine, and left with a new understanding of FDR, and with a new desire to support the annual March of Dimes so that infantile paralysis may be conquered.

After entering the grounds you visit the garage and see the automobile FDR owned and used for his short drives at Warm Springs. It was built so that he could drive it—a 1938 model convertable. There is a "bump gate" designed by the President, which the car bumper opens and which swings shut by gravity.

Then you enter the simple white-painted, Georgie pine cottage. You see the kitchen first. You are amazed at how simple it is. A small electric stove, sink, pantry and shelves. Daisey Bonner was the cook. She still lives in Warm Springs. I talked to her nephew. On a shelf is one of the famous slouch hats of FDR. There is a linen closet and butler's pantry.

From an entry way you come to Mrs. Roosevelt's bedroom. Fala's chain hangs in the entry way. And there is a fairly large combination living-dining room. The President's love of the sea is apparent. Ship models are all about. One he put together himself over a period of six years, made of red cedar. Book shelves built in each side of the fireplace. Same books are still there as he left them. There is a large picture of John Paul Jones, another of the USS Constitution, and another the family coat of arms.

And there is his favorite chair. He was seated in it when he was stricken the morning of his death. The attendant, Mr. E. M. Adams, of nearby Manchester, explains it all to you. There is a portable telephone with 25 feet of cord, which can be plugged in at seven spots about the cottage. What world-shaking messages passed through this phone, to the President who sat in his wheel chair in this quiet and simple cottage in the hills of Georgia!

And then you come to his bedrom. It is very plain. A three-quarter bed. A desk given him by some CWA workers in 1934. A barometer hangs by his bed. It is the bed upon which he died—where all was simple and quiet amid the sound of the soothing winds among the pines. A sun deck and a secretary's room and the two baths complete the house. From the sun deck you walk below to the basement museum. And it is here you spend most of your time and you see how this polio-stricken President was loved. From all over the world people sent him gifts. Many of them you see here. There are 100 canes. He had a favorite one of Chinaberry wood. Some were fancy. Upon one were carved the faces of each President of the United States. Plain citizens of many countries made things and sent them to FDR as a love gift. A large picture of him was hand made of embroidery and sent by Kin Wah Lee of Changsa, Hunan, China. An African chieftan sent him a handsome wood carving. And there is a glass case with personal effects. You see his shaving brush, the scissors his valet used to cut his hair . . .you see the dishes he used the morning of his death for his oatmeal breakfast. And you see the original copy of the speech he had written the day before for use in a national broadcast . . . starting off . . . "My Friends" . . . and his pencilled corrections.

Why do I tell you this story? Surely not to influence your personal evaluation of FDR. History will decide his greatness. The book is closed and time will decide its place in the files of time.

I tell you this because this is the March of Dimes month. At Warm Springs today the polio hospital is overcrowded. All over America victims of this dread crippler need loving care. Some in our own county. And research and study and all the wonderful things done with your contributions . . . look to us for help.

FDR fought polio as stoutly as he fought a depression, or dictators. I dare you to go to Warm Springs and come away without a tender feeling in your heart and a pledge to give to the March of Dimes. You see the steel braces he wore. There were tears in my yes as I saw with my eyes what he bore upon his crippled limbs. I knew then why he loved "the forgotten"—why he fought for the underdog and wanted a decent life for all humanity, especially those who suffered. Leave the politics out . . . just join hands and give generously today so that old Appomattox County will raise an honorable part of the money the March of Dimes has given to our own county. You will never regret it. —C.H.R.

LOCAL P.-T. A. MEETS TUESDAY NIGHT

The Appomattox High School P.-T. A. will meet January 29, at 8:00 P. M. in the school cafeteria. After the business session, Mrs. Jean Hesson and Mr. H. E. Kerr will explain the school legislation that is before the present General Assembly. This will be followed by a movie on dental health. All patrons are urged to be present.

Park Service Releases Historical Notebook Here

An old note book preserved by the late Mrs. J. R. Atwood, and recently found by her daughter, Miss Lynolee Atwood, of Richmond, reveals valuable historical information on the establishment of the Memorial Cemetery at Old Appomattox, and shows that it was the work of an organization here which was the local forerunner of the chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. Calvin Robinson, president of the U. D. C., today released contents of this aged notebook, supplied her through the cooperation of H. A. Gurney, Custodian here for the National Park Service.

It appears that on Friday, May 18, 1866, the ladies of Old Appomattox Court House and vicinity met in the court room to form a Ladies Association similar to the Ladies Memorial Association in other parts of the South. The object was to provide suitable interment for the Confederate Soldiers and to preserve the final resting place as a memorial.

Temporary officers were: President, Mrs. E. W. Leyburn; Secretary, Mrs. L. K. Read; Treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Peers. On May 25, 1866, a second meeting was held and the first officers were chosen, to serve for one year: President, Mrs. E. W. Leyburn; Vice-President, Mrs. Eliz. Johns; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ella W. Flood; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Lizzie K. Read; Treasurer, Mrs. Jonnie C. Peers. At this meeting Mr. Joel W. Flood offered to give land for the purpose of a cemetery.

Among the first members were: Mesdames E. W. Leyburn, Elizabeth Johns, Jennie C. Peers, Lizzie K. Read, Bettie Tweedy, Sally F. Abbitt, Mary Christian, Mollie McDearmon, Mollie M. Graff, and the Misses Eliza J. Leyburn, Belle McD. Leyburn, Bettie D. Johns(Mary W. Johns, Carrie A. Hix, Martha A. Hix, Mollie E. Sears, Sue Sears.

Mr. John Sears offered to donate land, upon a beautiful knoll one-half mile west of the Old Court House for the Cemetery, and Mr. George T. Peers prepared the deed. Major Flood donated timber for a fence. Capt. Wm. H. Trent and Maj. Flood arranged to haul the timber. Mr. Francis Meeks cleared the ground for the Memorial Cemetery.

An early feature of the Ladies Organization was a series of memorial addresses. Col. Farrar made the entertained by Maj. Wilmer McLean. A Tableau was presented as a means of raising funds. A similar ladies group in Charlotte offered to help.

The digging of the graves for the Veterans was done by Messers. Geo. T. Peers, C. H. Sackett, P. N. Meade, J. W. Webb, R. R. Kyle, Geo. A. Abbitt, E. G. Hix, and Maj. McLean.

The above, with the aid of John W. McKinney, John Sears, William Paris, R. M. Sweeney, Thomas S. LeGrande and Thomas A. Smith, re-interred the bodies of the Veterans November 30, 1866.

Mr. R. B. Poore made the memorial address in 1868.

Capt. Miles C. Mason, Fayette Artillery, Va., was buried in grave No. 1. Sgt. O. F. DeMemse, Donaldsonville Artillery, La., grave No. 2. The names of those interred in the first and was guest of Wilmer Mcin the next ten unknown.

Later the Ladies Associateion became the U. D. C. Mrs. J. R. Atwood was an early president. The U. D.C. was entrusted with the care of the Memorial Cemetery, which has now become a feature of the restored historical area at Appomattox.

Council Adds Police Officer

At the January meeting of the Appomattox Town Council, held Monday night, the town's governing body added an additional full-time policeman, Mayor George B. Buchanan announced the appointment of Mr. Strode Burks to this position, and Mr. Burks wil assume his duties tomorrow.

This will give the town two full-time policemen, E. T. Mitchell continuing his services of many years. It was felt that the community is growing rapidly and that adequate police protection made this change advisable.

Beyond this action, the council heard routine reports and attended to its monthly agenda.

Circuit Court Dates Changed

A bill introduced by delegate J. B. Boatwright, to change the dates of circuit court sessions in Appomattox and Charlotte Counties was the first bill passed by the House at the current General Assembly.

The bill, which must now go to the Senate, provides that the circuit court will convene in Appomattox County on the Tuesday after the first Monday of each of the four months it meets.

In Charlotte County, the circuit court would convene on Tuesday after the first Monday in each of the six months it meets. Previously, the court met on the first of the month in each county.

Methodist Have Program

Miss Faye Wood, Mr. Wesley Lucas, Mr. Kayle Kelly, Miss Geneva Brown and Miss Joan Shepherd, all members of the Life Service Band at Ferrum Junior College, will present a worship service at the Memorial Methodist Church here Sunday at 11:00 a. m.

The program will include solos, duets, and inspirational talks.

The detailed program will be found with other Church news on page four of todays issue.

Garden Club

The Conservation Committee will be in charge of the January Garden Club meeting, which will be held Monday evening, January 28,at 8:00 P. M. A color film, "Clean Waters" will be shown to the group.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Charles James, Mrs.William Bigony, Mrs. Mildred Alvis and Mrs. Otis Dewberry.

Exhibits will be (1) an arrangement of dried materials and (2) an arrangements of fruits and - or vegetables on a tray. Foliage may be added.

Attending Air Force School

(Special to Times-Virginian)

Baynith Moore, son or Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Moore, is one of the class of civilian and military pilots attending the current six-week course at the Pilot Instructor School at Craig AFB, Alabama.

The Pilot Instructor School, the only training program of its kind in the Air Force, offers a six-week course in both academic and flying instruction to qualified pilots who later will be assigned to teach aviation cadets how to fly at various air bases throughout the country.

Upon the completion of the course at Craig AFB, Moore will be assigned to an aid base now being operated by a civilian contract flying school for the Air Training Command.

A World War II veteran, the flyer served from 1942 to 1945 in the Pacific Theatre of operations.

He attended Appomattox High School here.
